About Piers Prichard Jones

Piers is a corporate partner in our global transactions group. He co-heads our M&A practice in London. He acts for a variety of clients across a range of sectors and is particularly well known for his work on transformational, cross border M&A transactions. Piers combines his transactional work with advice to company boards on activism, capital raisings, governance and risk and crisis management. Piers is also relationship partner for a number of the firm's FTSE and international clients.

Recent work

- ABB on the sale of its power grids division to Hitachi and on other transactions
