About Ulrich Scholz

Ulrich's experience in competition law stretches across the whole range of sectors, including energy, chemicals, retail and manufacturing. He has represented German, pan-European and multinational clients.

He takes a particular interest in competition and regulatory issues relating to the energy sector, and is known as an imaginative and persuasive advocate.

Ulrich has been in demand as an international arbitrator within the energy sector. He is known for the speed with which he familiarises himself with the details of his client's business, so that his authoritative legal advice is tempered with a real awareness of the client's commercial interests.

He speaks German and English.
