About Timothy Wilkins

Tim is the firm's Global Partner for Client Sustainability and a corporate and M&A partner based in New York.

Tim joined Freshfields in 1999 and has been a partner since 2002. He has advised on a wide range of sustainability issues as well as a series of high-profile cross-border M&A, private equity and joint ventures.

Tim leads Freshfields' global sustainability team which comprises leaders from the firm's transactional, regulatory and dispute resolution practices, to advise clients on environmental, social and governance (ESG) matters. He also leads the firm in its partnership with clients, public policy makers and regulators in their joint effort to tackle the broader range of ESG issues impacting business and society.

He is the Chair of the Board of New York Public Radio. He previously served on the Board of the New York City Economic Development Corporation as Chair of the Governance Committee, appointed by the Mayor of New York City; and served on the Board of the New York Public Theater, as Co-Chair of the Governance Committee. Tim formerly served as the Vice-Chair of the Legal Services Committee of the American Chamber of Commerce in Japan, where he worked as an investment banker and lawyer for 11 years.

Tim speaks English and Japanese.
